N M Counselors can help

Questions ?

Decisions ?

Problems ?

Contrary to popular opinion, North Mesquite counselors are not a part of the administration, and not just for 'problem students' - they are for everyone. North Mesquite counselors view their main purpose as giving information on jobs, curriculum, graduation requirements, and college. Once a year they give the freshman class achievement tests, and the sophomore class aptitude tests. They also do testing and interpretation of Aptitude and I.Q. tests.

"Everyone has problems to solve, or decisions to make and we are here to help them," remarked Mr. Bill Scott, Junior counselor. The other counselors are Mr. Bob Sego, senior counselor; Miss Sheila Jackson, sophomore counselor; and Mrs. Celia Fletcher, freshman counselor.

Counselors see all the students at least once a year at registration. Besides that, there are times when a counselor, in cooperation with a teacher, will take half of a class at a time and introduce a group activity promoting group interaction. An example is a "Values Auction". During the auction the students have a chance to bid on things such as self-confidence, peace of mind, etc. From observing what a person bids on, one can learn about that person and what's important to him.

Mr. Scott talks about three kinds of values, "want" values, "should" values, and "do" values. He explains that "want" values are values that one wants to have, "should" values are those that one thinks he should have, and "do" values are one's true values; they are reflected by what one actually does. A person's "do" values are what directly influences his decision making.

Besides giving information the counselors are there to deal with personal problems when a specific need arises. They can be helpful as a neutral party by suggesting alternatives that one who was emotionally involved perhaps would not see nor consider.

To be a counselor, one must have three years experience as a classroom teacher, a masters degree in education, and the certification requirements for a counseling certificate.

Any student may talk with his/her counselor by simply stopping by their office to make an appointment for before or after school, or during homeroom and study hall periods.

Dear Editor:

My letter concerns the North Mesquite library. First of all, they can be commended for their modern equipment and techniques.

Now if we only had some better books to read. The books are too elementary. How about some more sophisticated reading materials especially in the section of fiction.

My question is how do we go about recommending better reading material?

Sincerely,
Paul Keyes

Any letters to the editor should be as brief and to the point as possible. You may submit them at C-3 during third, fourth and fifth periods. Letters will be censored and condensed if necessary.

-Editorial Editor

Paul,

You can request more stimulating or difficult reading material by simply contacting one of the two librarians Miss Mary Ann Morgan and Mrs. Martha Peace.

Mrs. Peace stated, "We're always happy to receive new ideas. When the students give us the name and author of the book we will certainly give it some careful consideration."

EASTFIELD COLLEGE

Dallas County Community College District

By DAVID NOLEN

Eastfield College, the third of seven proposed colleges in the Dallas County College District, serves the eastern part of Dallas County — Dallas, Garland, and Mesquite.

The site on which the College was built was the frontier homestead of Zachariah Motley, the name sake of Motley Road. He left his Bowling Green, Kentucky home in 1853 to carve a new life for himself and his family in the fertile soil and rich grasslands of the newly declared state of Texas.

Even though the original boundaries of the homestead have long disappeared, the tree-shaded, wrought iron enclosed Motley family cemetery still stands inside the main entrance on a 244.3-acre site on which Eastfield College now stands.

Eastfield opened the fall of 1970 with more than 3,500 day and evening students and an additional 1,300 enrolled in the community service program. By the fall of 1972, the enrollment totals surpassed 6,200 day and evening students and 3,000 in the community service program.

The official seal of Eastfield College is a square, representing the shape of Dallas County, with a central symbol incorporating the architectural flavor of Eastfield's distinctive village-top design into the letters "E" and "C." The lower portion of the square is earth brown, depicting the land and fields. The upper portion is golden-orange, as the morning sun might appear on the eastern horizon.

The college has a number of activities and subjects to take. Band, choir, sports, and all kinds of subjects are just a few of the things going on at Eastfield.

Courses by division at Eastfield are business, communications, developmental studies, humanity, math and engineering, P.E., science, and social science.

Tuition depends upon the number of credit hours a student is enrolled.

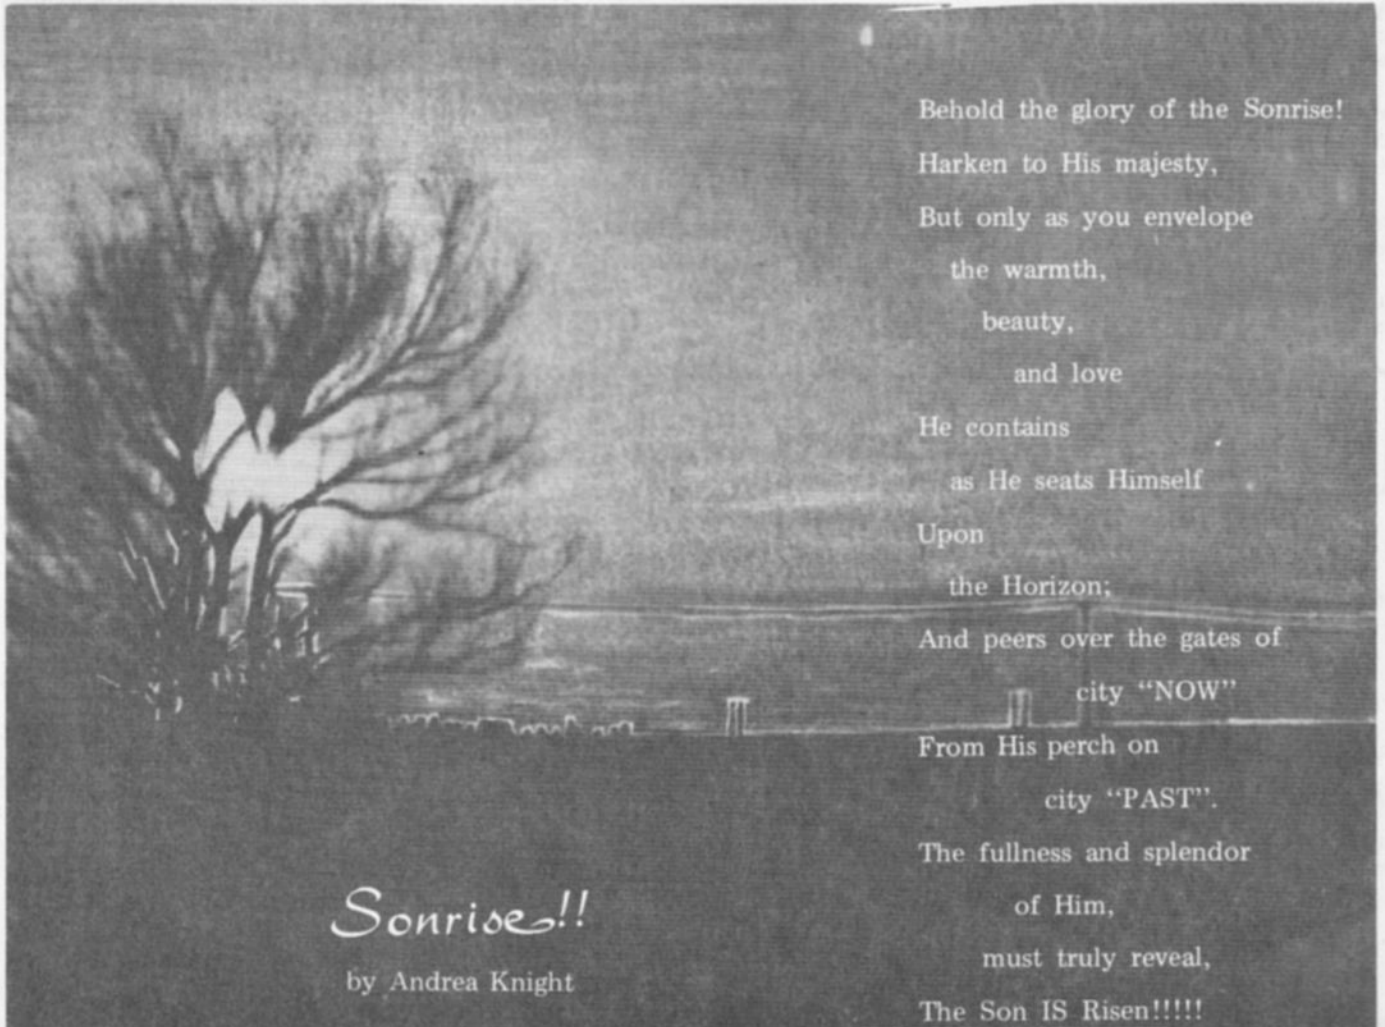

If a student wants 12 credit hours, it would cost $75, 9 credit hours would cost $58, and 6 credit hours would cost $40. All of these prices are only for students in Dallas County.

Out of Dallas County would cost $215 for 12 credit hours, $184 for 9 credit hours, and $124 for 6 credit hours.

Out of state students costs even more. For 12 credit hours it would cost $482, for 9 credit hours it would cost $364, and for 6 credit hours it would cost $244.

The summer tuition in district would cost $10 per semester hour, out of district would cost $30 per semester hour, and out of state would cost $45 per semester hour.

Seniors looking for a good junior college to attend should keep Eastfield in mind, because of the diversity of courses offered and the nearness to one's home.

Europe destiny of students

By ALICE ADAMS

While most of us travel no further than Grandma's house during the spring vacation, ten North Mesquite students will spend a week and a half journeying halfway across the world.

Mrs. Twilla Malone will be sponsoring a trip to Europe March 21-28. Students participating are Becky Blankenship, Marilyn Nolley, Pat Sampeck, Cindy Nicholson, Debra Adams, Donna Adams, Russell Mowell, Jan Faulkner, Dwanna Gunter, and Stan Moffatt. Mrs. Malone's father, John Cummins will be accompanying the group.

The first day, the group will leave Loveland and fly via 747 to Bangor, Maine, where they will change planes and arrive at Amsterdam Airport. Here they will tour the Rijksmuseum, a diamond factory, the Tower of Tears, Rembrandt's house, and the canals of Amsterdam.

The third and fourth days students will travel through Heidelberg, part of West Germany's industrial area, and arrive in Lausanne. Here they will spend a full day of leisure, traveling into Italy to see ancient Roman buildings, cathedrals and the Porta Praetoria, a Roman amphitheater.

Viewing the Vosges mountains and Louis Pasteur's birthplace will be just part of the agenda for the sixth day. Nightfall will find them in the famous city of Paris. Seeing famous buildings and monuments such as Opera, Champs Elysees, Arch of Triumph, Eiffel Tower, Louvre, and many others will occupy the eighth day.

The next two days will be spent returning to Amsterdam, and then home!

One student looking forward to this trip is Marilyn Nolley. She says, "One of the things I hope to gain from this trip is experience. I've always wanted to travel." Sharing her feelings is Dwanna Gunter, who says, "I've always wanted to see different countries and meet the people."

Evaluating how much students learn from trips such as these is part of a project being undertaken by Mrs. Margery Petrovich, a teacher at Mesquite High School. Mrs. Petrovich is working on her doctorate in secondary and higher education.

The purpose of the project is to find out if any change will take place in a student's knowledge and attitude of foreign countries after a trip to Europe. This will be done by a series of three tests, one on knowledge and two on attitude. Students will be given a pre-test one week before they leave, and a post-test after they return.

Learning about new countries through experience rather than from books is an exciting way to spend a vacation!

French students take spring journey

San Antonio is the destiny of French II, III, and IV students March 21-23. Along with students from all over the state of Texas, they will attend the French Symposium on Friday evening and all day Saturday.

On Friday the students will spend three hours taking grammar and culture tests. Saturday will be spent competing in such areas as poetry recitation, dramatic interpretation, costume design, and other projects. An awards banquet will follow.

"On Sunday, we will have a free day to see the sights," says Miss

Linda Duckett, French teacher. "The French students are traveling on Southwestern Airlines. Students are paying their own way, with the possibility of some money earned from a bake sale sometime soon."

When asked what she hoped her students will benefit from the trip, Miss Duckett answered, "The camaraderie of being with other French students, the ability to see how much they know about French, and the awareness of what they don't know. Also to give them the chance to use what they have learned the last few years. The main reason is to motivate them to continue studying French."

Cobey Lawrence, ROTC Sweetheart for 1974-75, receives her crown from last year's Sweetheart, Melody Pearson.

ROTC Sweetheart crowned

Cobey Lawrence, junior, escorted by Philip Phelps, senior, was crowned queen at the ROTC Ball February 28. Cobey was crowned by last year's queen, Melody Pearson.

Runner up was Pam Russell escorted by Calvin Peterson.

Princesses and escorts were Vicki Badgett, Bobby Murdock; Debbie Cooper, Steve Smith; and Ruth Leslie. Kevin Dasing.

The Honor Guard was composed of Lynn Barnes, Mike Edwards, Chuck Gandy, Randy Lucas, and Jimmy Watson.

The theme for the occasion was "Age of Aquarius," with colors of hot pink, green, and orange. The music was provided by Steve Stinson and group.

Students take over city hall

The city of Mesquite will be partially in the hands of 41 seniors from North Mesquite on March 21, as the annual Student Government Day is observed. The student Mayor and City Council were chosen by the senior class and those chosen appointed other students to city offices.

Keith Fulenwider was elected Mayor, and the all-girl City Council consists of Mary Powell, place 1; Pam Potter, place 2; Lisa Browning, place 3; Lynne Campbell, place 4; Paula Miller, place 5, and Janice Izzarelli, place 6.

Other students and their offices are Wesley Brown, City Manager; Joan O'Neil, City Secretary; Steve Daily, Municipal Court Judge; Candy Duke, City Attorney; Dennis Swint, City Health Officer; Gary Lacey, Assistant City Manager; Mike Caballero, Director of Community Development; Mike Gideon, Police Chief; Sheri Sharp, Fire Chief; Greg Haddock, Director of Parks and Recreation; Renee Combs, City Librarian; Edwin McLean, Director of Public Services; Gary Eoff, Director of Personnel; Carol Pace, Director of Finance; Phil Westbrook, Assistant to City Manager; Pam Spates, Administrative Aide; Mike Yancey, Data Processing Supervisor; David Beane, Chief Health Inspector; Mike Nelson, Service Center Superintendent; Diane Dyer, Tax Assessor-Collector; Nina Peterson, Purchasing Agent; Howard McNeil, Chief Accountant; Corky Harring, Fire Marshal; Jacky Hobbs, Chief Building Inspector; Debbie Duke, City Planner; Paul Sampeck, Assistant Police Chief; Perry Stevenson, Sanitation Superintendent; Kim Shaw, Street Superintendent; Pam McGee, City Engineer; Van Ogden, Parks Superintendent; Barbara Long, Recreation Superintendent; Kathy Nations, Traffic Safety Coordinator; and Gene Aube, Golf Course Superintendent.

An assembly will be held on March 20 for these students to acquaint them with basic functions of Student Government Day, and the parts they will play in it.

Student Government Day will begin at 8:30 on March 21

Staffs

Austin—bound

Newspaper and annual staff members will travel to Austin March 21 for the Interscholastic League Press Conference.

They will be able to attend classes on the production of a newspaper and yearbook, including specialized courses on subjects such as photojournalism, advertising, design, illustration, and specific types of writing.

The students will leave North Mesquite at around 7 a.m. Friday, March 21, and return Saturday afternoon. Mr. John Campbell, principal, and Mrs. Janet Hooper, newspaper staff sponsor will accompany the students on the trip. "It will give the students a chance to talk to members of newspaper and annual staffs from all over Texas and to exchange ideas and viewpoints," Mrs. Hooper explained.

"The students will learn methods of improving their skills in the field of communication they are interested in most," Mrs. Hooper added.

Art work

At the University of Dallas art show from February 16 to March 1, thirty-one high schools including North Mesquite were represented. North Mesquite took 11 pieces of art and 4 of those were chosen to be displayed in the show. They belonged to Tony Mayhaw, Marcia Carlson, Bruce Claver, and Nathan Eaton. One official pointed out that "the real award is wall space."

ball. Other guests included Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Poteet.

Dr. Poteet, Mesquite School Superintendent, said that "everything was perfect - delicious food and certainly the fine fellowship and the presence of such outstanding young people made just the right combination for a delightful evening."

Classes resume

Monday, March 31.

More specialized courses offered

Many new and specialized courses are one benefit of the trimester system going into effect next September.

"A student will be given more opportunity to take more different types of classes during the four years that he is in high school," explained Mr. James Terry, registrar.

"It will also give teachers an opportunity to teach classes that they are especially interested in," he added.

The classes will offer a student a wider variety and a greater freedom to accommodate individual interests.

Introduction to Algebra I is being offered as a preliminary course to prepare students for high-school algebra.

Clerical Practice is a new course available to any senior who has taken typing and would like to learn telephone manners, filing procedures, and office skills in general.

Fundamentals of Free Enterprise will enable students to learn how democracy works.

Health Occupations Cooperative Training (HOCT) is a new work program available to juniors and seniors. Students in this program are employed in health jobs such as dental assistants, doctors' office assistants, nurses' aides, orderlies, and many others.

The homemaking department is offering four new courses for next year which are Home Furnishings, Home Management, Home Nursing, and Child Development. All homemaking classes and all other classes except physical education will be co-educational next year, meaning both boys and girls will be in the same classes.

While many classes have been added to the curriculum, two have been taken away.

Instead of a World History class, students will choose any three of five one-quarter-long social studies classes available. These are Asian History, Latin American History, 20th Century European History, Medieval Times, and Africa and the Middle East. These classes may also be taken as electives.

English III has also been divided into five separate classes of which juniors choose two. The Art of Communication, dealing with grammar, composition, and the research paper is required for one quarter, and the other two quarters may be filled with The World of Drama, The Poetic Experience, Creative Expression, or A Survey of Prose.

Seniors are offered two different English classes, honors and non-honors English. Honors English will be a full year course, but non-honors English will be divided into three separate courses of which students may take any or all. These courses are Getting Along in the World, Romantics Versus Realists, and Comedy and Satire.

Next year, seniors will be allowed to graduate with only 55 quarter units, but the required amount will rise to 58 quarter units starting with the class of 1977.

The required 58 units are to be divided as English, 9 quarters; World History or World Geography, 3 quarters; American History, 3 quarters; American Government, 2 quarters; Math, 6 quarters; Science, 3 or 6 quarters, depending on whether or not a student passed seventh and eighth grade science; Health Education, 2 quarters; Physical Education, 5 quarters; and Electives, 25 quarters.

The trimester system was brought about by a bill passed several years ago by the Texas State Legislature requiring all state public schools to operate on the system by the 1975-76 school year.

Scholarship finalists named

Two North Mesquite seniors, Howard McNeil and Keith Fulenwider, have been chosen as finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Competition. These students scored in the top one-half of one percent of all students in the nation who took the SAT test, Mr. Bill Scott, counselor, said.

Howard McNeil, being president of the Slide Rule and Number Sense Club is very active in it. Out of five meets the club has attended, he has won first place in three of them. Last year he went all the way to state in competition. He is also a Spanish Club member.

He is taking six courses this year, of which five and one-half are honor courses. He ranks number one in the senior class. When asked if he studied much, Howard replied, "Not if I can help it!" For recreation he enjoys playing tennis.

After graduation, Howard plans to attend Texas Tech University and become an engineer.

The second finalist Keith Fulenwider, is active in many different school functions. He is in the Slide Rule and Number Sense Club and holds the distinction of being the first student from North Mesquite to advance to regional competition.

Keith is president of the senior class, president of the National Junior Honor Society, vice-president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and one of the linebackers on the varsity football team. He enjoys swimming, skiing, baseball, and basketball.

Howard McNeil

Keith Fulenwider

Mr. Ramiro Sanchez, math teacher of both students, says of them, "I would place them as two of the best students I've seen since I came to North Mesquite. They are very gifted, and I have expectations of them."

The students will now go on to compete for two of the 2,300 National Merit scholarships awarded. They will be judged on their personal achievements and abilities, academic and leadership record, statements about themselves, the school's endorsement and recommendations of them, and their SAT test scores.

with a meeting in which students will meet their city staff counterparts. They will spend time observing their counterparts in action and a highlight of the day will be a luncheon at the Dallas Athletic Country Club.

One of the objectives of the day is to promote a better understanding for students of how their city government works. It will probably be a memorable event for both students and city officials - and possibly for the city of Mesquite.

Cheerleaders selected

Cheerleaders for the 1975-76 school year have been chosen.

Varsity squad members will be Pam Burkhalter, Pam Baxter, Debbie Sasser, Rita Hodges, Tracie Talley, Valerie Sheffield, Sandy Malone, Kathy Roe, Sherra Gumm, and Pam Davis.

Michelle Tusa, Sandi Green, Pam DeWolfe, Julie Kula, Karen Curtis, Ramona Davis, Terri Malone, and Tina Cole will make up the junior varsity.

Freshman cheerleaders will be Ginger Snyder, Carrie West, Pam Peyton, Penny Peyton, Kim Nolan, Melissa Maedgen, Robin Cheek, and Edie Burgess.

FHA travels to Denton

Leaving campus today, fifty FHA members and their homemaking sponsors will travel to Denton for the area V FHA Conference.

Two students from North Mesquite are running for Area V FHA officers. Connie Miller, junior, is running for President, and Debbie Everett, sophomore, is running for secretary.

Teachers accompanying the students are Mrs. Maggie Birdsong, Mrs. Shirley Goolsby, Miss Pam Leonard, Miss Susan White, Mrs. Janice Tonroy, Mrs. Lynnell Prater, and Mrs. Sarah Lander.

School attended

Senior Randy Gray and science teacher Edwin Ganze attended the Southwest Regional Short School at Texas A&M University March 3-6. They heard talks about water, water treatment and treatment techniques.

At this meeting, Randy received his Equipment Maintenance Certificate.

Randy is in the Industrial Cooperative Training program and works for the Duck Creek Waste Water Treatment Plant in Garland.

Bands travel through state

Traveling to Houston and Corpus Christi, both the Concert and the Symphonic Band will perform in state contests next month.

The Symphonic Band will leave for Corpus Christi on April 25, and will return on the 28. The Concert Band will play in Houston April 11-13.

Proceeds from their March 7 concert will be used to partly finance the Big Blue's trips.

At the March 7 Concert, the Symphonic Band, directed by Mr. W. A. Tony Anderson, played "Tribute to Jim Croce," "Finale" from Tchaikovsky's "Symphony Number Four," and "Flying Dutchman."

The Concert Band's music included "Imperial," "Lustspiel," and "Ode." The director is Mr. Don Hamrick.

The Second Period Band, directed by Mrs. Connie Hamrick, played "Alamo," "Come Saturday Morning," and "Little Rock."

Representative chosen

Karen Collins, junior, will represent North Mesquite in the 1975 Accumulation program to be held June 9-20 at Southern Methodist University.

Karen plans to major in Business in college and is a member of the newspaper staff. She says, "I think the program will be a lot of fun and I hope to get better acquainted with the field of business."

She was selected by her bookkeeping teacher, Mrs. Ada Allen, to be interviewed for the program.

The program is co-sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service, the Dallas Chapter of the Texas Society of CPA's, and the School of Business Administration at SMU. The program is designed to introduce students to the accounting profession.

Student teacher coming

Mrs. Ada Allen's Bookkeeping I and II classes will have a student teacher, Miss Sigrid Sue Rawlings, from March 17 until about two weeks before school is out. Miss Rawlings attends East Texas State University and is majoring in business. She is from Lancaster and has attended Eastfield Jr. College. She is a member of Gamma Sigma Sigma at the University and was a National Honor Society member in high school. Miss Rawlings would like to teach 11th and 12th grade.

Chamber Singers plan journey

NMHS Chamber Singers will travel to San Antonio April 11 and 12 to compete in the annual Madrigal competition.

New Spanish teacher

Among the new faces seen on campus is that of Miss Sue Lyons, the new Spanish teacher.

Miss Lyons attended high school in Louisiana and was graduated from Southern Methodist University with degrees in English and Spanish. She previously taught at North Dallas High School.

Miss Lyons said, "I like North Mesquite and would like to come back in September if there is an opening."

Forensic Club sponsors novice tournament

The Intra City Novice Speech Tournament was held March 5 and 6. Sponsored by North Mesquite's Forensic Club, 94 students from five schools attended.

"The purpose of the tournament was to give first-year speech students experience in putting to practice what they have learned in class this year," says Mrs. Debby Chapman, Forensic Director.

Schools which attended were Wilkinson, Vanston, Agnew, T.H. McDonald, and North Mesquite.

Students placing from North Mesquite are as follows: dramatics - Dwanna Gunter, second; James Coffman, third; Oratory - David Walls, first; Julie Dickey, second; Poetry - Belinda Turner, first; Julie Dickey, second; Extemp - James Coffman, first; David Walls, second; Prose - Scott Bardin, second; Duet - Karen Sampson and Sharon Meloling, first; Fair and Nichols, second.

Those participating were all first-year students. "I feel that it was better for these students to compete with students on their own experience level first, before competing with other speech students who have had three or four years experience. It also stimulated an interest in continuing speech for many students," says Mrs. Chapman.

Judges of the tournament were advanced speech students and a few teachers. Mrs. Chapman says, "Special thanks go to Mrs. Judy Baggett, Mrs. Joan Timms, and Miss Constance Vinson. Advanced students from Mesquite High School also assisted in judging.

The Thespian club provided the tournament with refreshments and a hospitality committee. "Another important point about the tournament was that it gave students their first points in qualifying for the Thespian and Forensic clubs," says Mr. Mike Wolfe, drama director.

The trophies awarded to North Mesquite students will be on display in the trophy case until the end of this semester. "A new ruling is that individual competition awards will be displayed for that school year and will then become the property of that student," says Mrs. Chapman.

So What - Joe Walsh

By PAUL NEELEY

today's modern society. (And plus that, it's got some good rock 'n' roll!)

For example, a tongue-in-cheek look at everyday hassles: "Standin' in the runaway wavin' at the plane - There goes everything you own... You know it isn't easy, well, Welcome To The Club."

In "Falling Down," Walsh (along with Eagles drummer Don Henley) says: "Thinkin' no deposit, no return. Making the same mistakes; we never learn."

This melancholy, bluesy tune with a nice fluid guitar lead segues straight into a classical selection, "Pavane of the Sleeping Beauty." Taken from "The Mother Goose Suite," it may not be your idea of get-down boogie music, but Walsh does do a fantastic job on his solo synthesizer key boards.

"Time Out" opens with some good raunchy guitar work, which quickly settles down into a smooth, funky groove until the last riff fades away.

The next cut tells the story of Walsh's trials and tribulations with getting rid of his "ring around the collar" and other fatal diseases. Short and folksy, "All Night Laundry Mat Blues" reminds that superstars have their problems, too.

The opener on side two, "Turn To Stone," has the album's most intense vocal, plus some scorching Hendrix-style guitar solos.

On "Help Me Through The Night", Walsh needs all the help he can get. He has never been very successful in a laid-back, countrified style, and after one listen you'll know why. His distinctive vocal phrasing and fiery guitar breaks brought him to fame in the "James Gang," and they've been his trademark ever since. Unfortunately, neither is used to the best advantage on this track.

However, "County Fair" readily makes up for any faults in the past tunes. It's moody, mystical, and features the talented Joe Vitale on drums.

When the band finally stops rockin', Walsh decides to end the album with a nice ballad. "Song For Emma" is sweet, sentimental, and lushly smothered in strings. The production, by his old stand-by Bill Szymczyk, is probably not what you've come to expect from a guy who called his last album "The Smoker You Drink, The Player You Get," but it works.

"So What" comes as another satisfying highpoint in the well-rounded, highly imaginative career of Joe Walsh.

Drill tryouts held

Pacesetter officer tryouts were held on February 19. Fifteen girls tried out for the five positions available. The officers will be announced at the stage show on April 4.

Sixty Pacesetters for next year were chosen at tryouts on March 11.

B-drill tryouts were held on March 6.

PEOPLE

Shift into First Gear

By RENEE MAREK

A standing room only crowd watched with enthusiasm as the First Gear performed on the North Mesquite stage, February 25. The program was presented by the senior class and booked by Mrs. Robbie Lock, senior class sponsor.

The First Gear's home base is Orlando, Florida, but the members are from many different parts of the United States. The lead singer and manager, Don Perry (Funky), states, "We pick the guys not by their music ability, but if they're easy to work with." Although this group has only been together since the first part of January, they have performed almost all over the country in churches, high schools, and concerts at night.

The group has had many unusual experiences while on tour, such as the time the leader got arrested for having expired license plates on the van, a few hours before a concert.

The members of First Gear are: Don Perry, lead singer who plays slide trombone; Michael Bransford, singer who plays tambourine, trumpet, and french horn; Paul Hillen, lead guitar; Woody McIntosh, bass guitar; Joey Gentry, piano; and Threk Michaels, drums.

Some groups don't get along due to the fact they are on the road together most of the time - but not First Gear. Funky says, "We try to have a time of prayer before each concert."

The First Gear has two albums out, First Gear and Caution. To buy one of their albums or get any information about the group, write First Gear Booking, Box 282, Orlando, Florida 32802.

Even though the group played songs by the Doobie Brothers, Beatles, Rolling Stones, Carlos Santana, Z. Z. Top, Hollies, Ike and Tina Turner and Greg Allman, they try to maintain a style that is distinctly First Gear.

Starship-still flying high

"We like to put the music down like a big hand and grab you shake you."

Marty Balin, 1966

In 1965, Paul Kantner and Marty Balin met at The Drinking Gourd, a San Francisco folk club, and decided to form a rock group to be called Jefferson Airplane. Assisted by guitarist Jorma Kaukonen, drummer Skip Spence, bassist Bob Harvey, and vocalist Signe Anderson, they put together a band, who, after leading a generation of kids through the drug scene, Vietnam, and at least thirteen memorable albums, is still able to entertain sell-out crowds. It's been ten years since they soared aloft, and they're ascending still.

After Harvey was replaced by Jack Casady, they scored a recording contract with RCA. Their debut album, Jefferson Airplane Takes Off, was released in September of 1966. A few months before, Signe had a baby and chose to finish her musical career.

Grace Slick had seen Jefferson Airplane one night at the Matrix Club and decided she wanted to be a rock and roll singer.

In between drummer changes, the Jefferson Airplane released five albums. Two cuts from Surrealistic Pillow, "Somebody to Love" and "White Rabbit", became top ten singles in 1967. After Bathing at Baxter's and Crown of Creation soon followed. In February, 1969, they released Bless Its Pointed Little Head, a live album recorded at the Fillmore. Volunteers came out later that year.

In May of 1970, Casady and Jorma Kaukonen released the first Hot Tuna album. They've since recorded a live album, Burgers, and The Phosphorescent Rat.

Electric violinist Papa John Creach sometimes records with Hot Tuna, and became a full fledged member of the Jefferson Airplane in 1970. Probably the oldest rock musician, Papa John first picked up the violin in 1928. In addition to playing with Kanter, Slick, and friends, he has released three albums with Zulu.

When The Worst of Jefferson Airplane came out in 1970, Kantner and Slick started the Jefferson Starship. Their Blows Against the Empire became the first record album ever nominated for the Science Fiction Writer's Hugo Award.

Marty Balin left the Jefferson Airplane before Bark came out in 1971, on their new label, Grunt.

After the birth of China, their daughter, Gracie and Paul released Sunfighter the same year. They recorded Baron Von Tollbooth and The Chrome Nun in June 1973 with vocalist David Freiberg. Instrumental in forming another early San Francisco band, Quicksilver Messenger Service, Freiberg plays bass and keyboards with the Starship.

A member of the Turtles in the mid-60's John Barbata was introduced on the Airplane's second Grunt album, Long John Silver, in 1972. A drummer who always carries lemons with him, he has played extensively with many rock groups (notably Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young).

After the addition of Freiberg, Thirty Seconds Over Winterland, the second live Airplane album, was released in April, 1973.

The following year, Grace Slick's solo album, Manhole, and a collection of unreleased Airplane material, Early Flight, both came out.

The Jefferson Airplane has played at many rock festivals during its varied career. They appeared at the first "Human Be-In" (San Francisco), Woodstock, and at Altamont (Marty Balin was knocked unconscious at the latter concert). Though they haven't performed live or recorded on album (as the Airplane) in three years, the Jefferson Starship recently completed their second national tour. "I love being in the studio for days and days, but I miss performing live," Grace has said. "I get off solid playing to an audience."

Pete Sears, the newest addition to the band, joined when bassist Peter Kangaroo left after the first tour ended. A versatile musician, he alternates bass and keyboards with David Freiberg. He also records with Rod Stewart quite frequently.

Papa John Creach says, "The thing about the Starship is they're all musicians." This fact is certainly evident on the latest Jefferson Starship album, Dragon Fly.

Most of the faces are different now, and some of the familiar ones have changed, too. Even the name is different. But the Jefferson Airplane/Starship is definitely a first-class trip.

PEOPLE

"I don't feel like life has changed at all."

By JUNE BLANKENSHIP

In a world full of infinite problems, most people feel that their problems exceed everyone else's.

However, some people who have more serious problems learn to cope with them faster. An example is Larry Groves.

In September 1974, Larry Groves, an eighth grader at T. H. MacDonald, (brother of Lloyd Groves North Mesquite senior), was involved in a motorcycle accident. This accident left Larry paralyzed from the waist down.

A step with faith

Larry had saved his money working the previous summer to buy a Suzuki 100. His parents were hesitant at first, but decided to let Larry buy the motorcycle.

On September 4, Larry took his motorcycle out to ride it. He was passing a small dune buggy when the back wheel of his motorcycle caught the front wheel of the buggy and flipped the motorcycle and Larry. He was then taken to Baylor Hospital.

At first the doctors weren't sure how much damage had been done, but after an operation they discovered Larry's spinal cord lining had been damaged, and three vertebrae were crushed.

Larry spent one month in the Truitt section of Baylor Hospital then later was moved to the Collins or Rehabilitation part of the hospital. During the time he spent in "Rehab", Larry learned to make different things with leather.

There were other teenagers at the hospital with problems similar to Larry's, but they had little time to be depressed. "Larry had such a bright, cheery attitude, it made it hard for the other patients to be depressed," said Mrs. Groves.

Since the accident, operations, specialists, hospital fees, tutoring, ran up expenses to about $23,000 for the Groves family. Mayor Bob Beard started a Larry Groves Fund in Mesquite and raised $800 to give to the family to help aid in paying expenses.

Through all this trouble the Groves family never appeared to let things get them down. Larry still has a chance of recovering the ability to walk although he is presently in a wheelchair.

Friends who have known Larry since before the accident, see no great change in him. He still is the same bright, joking person he was before the accident.

"I'm proud of Larry, he really took the accident like a man," said Mr. Groves. "I don't feel like life has changed at all," says Larry.

By talking to Larry one senses that Larry Groves knows he's going to walk again, because he's got faith in his God and faith in himself.

People who have so many problems that they feel the world will just tumble down any minute could renew their faith in others and in themselves by relating and meeting people like Larry Groves.

A teacher of many talents

By KAREN COLLINS

Being Student Council sponsor and teaching Bookkeeping I and II would keep any average person busy, but Mrs. Ada Allen still finds time to be secretary of the Rainbow Advisory Board, a member of the DeMoley Mothers Club and an Eastern Star officer.

Mrs. Allen has been teaching five and a half years and has many interesting experiences in her years of teaching. She explained about one of her most unusual student presents - a duck. "In 1969-70 my Bookkeeping II gave me an Easter duck. We took the duck to Miss Cathy Bradley's tank." One of the most recent experiences, explained Mrs. Allen, "There's nothing funnier than seeing Lorna Kaloi putting Keith Cockrell's papers all over the room for him to find, and then not everybody has 'three stooges.'"

Before becoming a teacher Mrs. Allen held many jobs ranging from a secretary to the District Manager of American General Life Insurance Agency but says, "I had rather teach because I enjoy the knuckle-heads." Mrs. Allen has three daughters and one son and Mr. Allen is a psychologist at the Texas Rehabilitation Commission.

Led Zeppelin hits Dallas

By RICHARD PRADARITS

"Four of us got together in this two by two room and started playing. Then - we knew - we started laughing at each other. Maybe it was from relief, or maybe from the knowledge that we knew we could groove together."

This is how Led Zeppelins' lead singer Robert Plants explained at a recent concert how one of rock's most popular acts, Led Zeppelin, originated six-and-one-half years ago, "back when I was 19 and the rest of the group was 36", Plant humorously recalls.

The six-and-one-half year career of Led Zeppelin has been marked by drastic musical changes. They have played everything from accoustical songs to the hard rock songs for which Zeppelin has become famous. Zeppelin has never paid attention to adverse remarks from critics, or to public opinion as guitarist Jimmy Page will testify. "We'll still do our accoustic things, even if no one listens."

But over the years as well as being one of the finest bands in the studio, Zep has established itself as a top-drawer concert attraction, selling out concerts and doing it the hard way, with no warm up act and grueling three-hour sets, but always seeming to come out on top.

So on Thursday night, March 4, the Zeps did it again, bringing the 10,000 people at Dallas Convention Center to their feet by the end of the show. From the first, Zeppelin gave the crowd what they wanted by playing their best material including some new things off of their "Physical Graffiti" album. Drummer John "Bonzo" Bonham played the opening solo of "Rock n' Roll," and the crowd was on its' feet clapping to help the band get started. Halfway through this song it became evident that a bad sound system would mar the performance, but it improved as the show progressed.

During "Kashmir" the light show began in earnest, becoming as much of the concert as the music. The lighting equipment included three laser beams, no less than 177 spotlights, a see through backdrop with the Zeppelin logo, and five hydraulic spot lights around the stage.

"Dazed and Confused" was the peak of the evening with Page playing his guitar with a cello bow, and getting a surprisingly good sound out of it. To end the set, Zep chose "Stairway to Heaven," and they couldn't have played better.

After 15 minutes of hand clapping and trying to bring the house down by the crowd, Led Zeppelin came out for their first encore including "Whole Lotta' Love," "The Crunge," and "Black Dog." But it was the secone encore that showed the groups true virtuosity in the song "Heartbreaker," with Page playing that incredible guitar solo with one hand.

With that, the crowd left satisfied; who could ask for more? As Plant put it, "We're gonna play some old stuff, some new stuff, and some pretty good stuff."

Wet Willie

By RICHARD PRADARITS

Wet Willie has been known for years as an outstanding live band. Their largest problem so far, as with other southern rock bands, has been putting all of the excitement of their live music onto a record. Wet Willie's past attempts of doing this have failed due to the manner in which the band went at it. Their studio sound went from a loose southern sound, to an attempt at a polished precision sound. Neither attempt sounding like the real Wet Willie.

"Keep on Smilin'," Wet Willie's new album, differs from it's predecessors in the fact that the band is just being itself instead of something it's not. That is what makes this album outstanding.

The best song on the album is the title cut, "Keep on Smilin'." In this song, the addition of Williettes Donna Hall and Ella Avery make the difference between Wet Willie and other southern rock bands by adding their shimmering vocals which give the song and the album that little something extra.

Up and coming

Chicago (North Mesquite's favorite group, according to the recent poll) will appear with the Beach Boys in the Cotton Bowl on May 3. Ticket prices will be announced soon.

After eight years of rocking' and smokin', Humble Pie is breaking up. They will give their farewell performance at Memorial on March 19. Robin Trower will be the special guest. Tickets are $4, $5, and $6; the show is at 7:30. KZEW will broadcast a Poor People's Concert that midnight.

Alice Cooper (the person, not the group), accompanied by relatively unknown musicians, will undertake a world-wide tour in April. His latest solo LP, Welcome to My Nightmare, was cut in Toronto. His first TV special should be aired in April and will be narrated by Vincent Price.

Merle Haggard will play at the Music Hall on March 21. Tonight at 10 p.m., TV Channel 13, Willie Nelson will be on the "Austin City Limits."

Nektar will perform with their colossal light show in Memorial on March 29, 8 p.m.

Jesse Colin Young and Leo Kotke will appear on April 11 at McFarlin. There will be two shows: 7:30 and 10:30; tickets are $5.50 and $6.50.

Elvis Presley will shake Memorial on June 6.

For Art lovers the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, Fair Park, has scheduled many activities in the months of March and April. All these events are free and open to the public, Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. and closed Monday.

Some activities continuing through June include the Norbert Schimmel exhibitions, a collection of Greek, Egyptian and Middle Eastern art. Also, David McManaway's one-man exhibition of found objects on styrofoam panels will be displayed beginning March 19 through April 27. Ara Medica, a collection of 135 prints illustrating various categories of medical history by Albrecht Durer and Rembrandt, is on display April 27 through May 18.

"The Heritage of Ancient Egypt," a film series of Egyptian civilization, will be shown in a four-part series beginning March 30 and continuing through April 6, 13, and 20.

Gallery talks are now in progress each Wednesday at 11 a.m. and concert series are held each Sunday.

For additional information about these series of work, contact Pat Porter, The Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, Fair Park, Dallas 75226 or call 421-4188.

A Company of Wayward Saints

By ALICE ADAMS

Mr. Mike Wolfe, drama director, described this year's one-act play, "A Company of Wayward Saints," as a "modern version of a sixteenth - century Italian comedy."

The play will be performed for the student body at an assembly next Tuesday. The play will also be performed at Zone UIL contest on March 21.

"There are no real stars or leads - each actor is as important as the next, which is one reason I choose this play," explained Mr. Wolfe.

At the Garland meet March 1, North Mesquite's Girls Track team placed third with 92 points, South Garland placed second and Irving placed first.

In field events Pam Burkhalter and Barbara Long placed first and fifth respectively. Pam also placed first in the high jump and the 440 dash.

Placing sixth in the 60-yard dash was Mary Garner, Cathie Holman placed second in the 880 run, and Sherry Wooten placed sixth in the 880 run.

Coach Jo Self believes the girls are looking strong in all events.

Imagine the green astro-turf of the Texas Stadium covered with a layer of homosote and polyethylene and on top of that 9000 cubic yards of dirt, 300 cubic yards of sand, 10 tons of pre-cast concrete, 500 bales of hay, and 500 tires added. Sounds a little bit different than the good 'ole green stuff the Cowboys play on doesn't it? Well, it was!

All these ingredients were used to build a special motocross course for the "Yamaha Super Series of Motocross," and the "Yamaha High School Championship for Texas," February 28 and March 1.

When the dust cleared, and the track was finished it contained a tunnel 75 feet long, 25 feet wide, 10 feet high with a over and under; a five-foot high roller coaster jump; a three-foot high ramp jump; a sand trap; 12-foot high mound jump; a 4-foot high mound jump; and one section of 3-foot whoop-dee-dos. The track was 1,760 feet long, 20 feet wide, 40 feet wide in the first corner. Nope! Nothing like the good 'ole astro-turf at all!

February 28 at 8 p.m. the Yamaha Super Series of Motocross and the Yamaha High School Championship for Texas began. The two events were both sponsored by Yamaha International Corporation and produced by Pace Management Corporation of Houston, Texas, under the sanction of the AMA-FIM International.

In the High School championship, high school students which qualified in six major cities throughout Texas, competed for Gold Trophies and special scholarships set up by Yamaha to promote the growth of the new interscholastic sport of motocross.

The races were divided into 100, 125, 250, and Open Class. Each separate race was then divided into beginner and intermediates. The expert class of the high school motocross will race today and tomorrow at Houston Astrodome.

During the race flagmen were stationed around the track. If someone fell or had some mechanical difficulty, they would wave yellow flags to warn riders to take caution.

Friday, the 100cc and 125cc classes ran. In the 100cc junior class, Kevin Hawk from Thomas Jefferson High, won first place; Terry Fowler from Haggard High, won second place; and Mark Bowlin from Deer Park High won third.

Motocross comes to Texas Stadium

In the 125cc novice class, Clint Ward from South Houston High won first place; second place not available, and Craig Knight from Everman High, won third.

In the 125cc junior class, Terry Strothers from Alvin High won first; Bobby Parsons from Sharpston High took second; Jody White from Andress High placed third.

In the 250cc class, John Reynolds from Richardson High, first; R. Smith from Alvin High, second; and third not available.

In the professional part of the event riders competed for more than just trophies. Riders competed for $20,000 purse money.

Texas Stadium is just the first of a three-part series which moves to Daytona, March 8, and the Astrodome, March 14-15. Total purse for all three events is about $70,000.

Riders who competed in this event were invited from all over. Gerrit Wolsink from the Netherlands, and Heikki Mikkola from Finland were invited to compete in the open class. Nils Nilsson from Finland competed in the 250 class.

Some well known United States riders competed along with many high placing American riders. For example, Jim Weinert, Open Class Champion; Kent Howerton, Trans-

AMA-Support Series 250cc champion.

Although all the participants were good in the expert class, the best riders placed high. The experts raced two heats each night.

In the Open Class, first heat, Jim Weinert placed first; Tony Distefano placed second; and Mike Hartwig placed third.

In the second heat, Steve Stackable placed first; Gary Semics placed second; and Tony Distefano placed third.

In the 250cc Class, first heat, Jimmy Ellis placed first; Rich Eierstedt placed second; and Marty Smith placed third. In the second heat Jimmy Ellis again placed first; Kent Howerton got second; and Sal Defeo came in third.

On Saturday night, first heat, 250cc Class, Steve Stackable, first; Jim Weinert, second; and Tony Distefano, third. In the second heat, Toneyfano first; Steve Stackable, second; and Jim Weinert, third.

In Open Class, first heat, Jimmy Ellis, first; Marty Smith, second; and Billy Grossi, third. In the second heat, Kent Howerton, first; Marty Smith second; and Jimmy Ellis, third.

Ronald Powell, Coach of the Year in District 8-A AAAA is shown here busily working in his office.

Ronald Powell, Coach of the Year in 8-A AAAA

By KAREN COLLINS

"Coach of the Year," for the 8-A AAAA District was awarded to Ron Powell, basketball coach for the achievement of coaching a winning district team for the first time in Mesquite.

"I think it was a great season and it is all due to the amount of hard work and dedication from the players," Coach Powell commented.

Being district basketball champs for the first time in the Mesquite School District is "something the players and I have worked for," Coach Powell said. "Our goal before the season was to win District and the second is the State Basketball Tournament," Coach Powell added.

There were three key games that developed the confidence to win district explained Coach Powell, "The first was the Pinkston game. We were 13 points down with 3 minutes to go. Next was the Lake Highlands game, with 47 seconds, we were down 7 points, but we came back and won it. The last was the Richardson game. With one quarter remaining and 12 points down, most teams would have given up, but the players kept their poise and came back and won."

When asked about next year he said, "Next season depends on how much improvement and dedication that the present players have. There will be no height next year with only two starters back."

Ask the chances of winning state he said, "They will have to play real smart basketball, have good shooting, and constantly give 100 percent to win."

This year the basketball team has broken many records, including all individual and team offensive records. The season record up to date is 25-8. This record is the best made by a Mesquite School.

Stallions swipe two

By MAX JAGGERS

Opening their season with a bang, the North Mesquite Baseball Team swept a double-header over Lewisville, Saturday, March 1, at Eastfield College.

The first game saw senior pitcher Don Wafford in his top form, fanning 14, walking no one, and shutting out Lewisville 5-0. The Stallions managed six hits by seniors Johnny Case, David Kinney, Mike Lowe, and Don Wafford, and juniors Eddie Eason and Max Jagers, each with one hit apiece.

In the second game, sophomore Greg Griffin pitched a no-hitter to defeat Lewisville 3-1. Griffin breezed eight and walked only two. Leading hitters for the Stallions were Johnny Case, David Kinney, and Max Jagers, each with one hit.

These two wins give the Stallions a 2-0 record.

Grand Prairie falls to NM

By MAX JAGGERS

With a vicious 11 hit onslaught, the North Mesquite Baseball Team shut-out Grand Prairie 11-0, March 3, at Hillcrest Field.

Senior pitcher Steve Ewton pitched the entire game, striking out six and walking no one.

Leading hitters for the Stallions were David Kinney, Eddie Eason, Max Jagers, and Bobby Watts, each with two hits and Johnny Case, Mike Lowe, and Terry Brizendine, each with one hit.

This win gives the Stallions a 3-0 record.

Stallions clinch bi-district victory

By MARTY McLENDON

The ultra-modern R. L. Turner gym in Carrolton was the site of the bi-district battle between 7-AAAA representative, Arlington and 8-AAAA champion, North Mesquite. The Stallions prevailed with the victory 52-47 after a very hard fought battle.

The game as a whole was probably one of the most hard-fought battles to take place in quite some time. The participation of the crowd along with the physical contact gave it the qualities of what a championship game should be like.

In the first quarter Arlington came out shooting with 6'11" Allen Winder scoring frequently. His height gave him a certain advantage yet the hustle of the Stallion team kept him under control. Arlington had the lead 15-12 going into the second period.

The Stallions started a retaliation in the second quarter as Mark Davis, Van Ogden, and David Crumpton began to shoot well from both the inside and outside. The physical contact increased as did the noise from the crowd. Going into the dressing room at halftime the Stallions had pulled within one point, 25-24.

The third quarter began to show signs of both teams tiring as the contact between the two teams steadily increased. It was obvious that the low-scoring game was due to the tremendous defense displayed by both teams. Going into the fourth and final period Arlington remained ahead by one, 37-36.

A hard-fought battle for supremacy began to stand out in the third quarter. The game was never in the bag, but the breaks were coming in favor of the Stallions. A couple of free throws by Robert Boley and the hustling of the entire Stallion team helped clinch the North Mesquite victory.

The Stallions outclassed Arlington 16-10 in the final quarter and brought a bi-district victory home to Stallion country 52-47.

Corner

Mike Nelson, a six-foot, five-inch center on the North Mesquite basketball team received the honor of being named to the first team All-District in 8-AAAA.

Mike has played for the varsity roundballers for three years. He also participates in track where he holds the school high jump record with a six foot jump. Last summer he placed second in regional and fifth in the state in the high jump.

Baseball is another of Mike's past times as he takes time out to coach a little league team.

Mike has not yet chosen a college or a major but does plan to continue playing basketball throughout college.

Tennis team moves up

In district competition the North Mesquite tennis team has jumped to a third place standing in the Richardson Pearce round robin play, February 28-March 1.

"With only eight games left the results look very encouraging for our players," commented Coach James Brinkley.

In the L. D. Bell tournament in Hurst, Donna Eaton, Tina Essler, and Nancy Luepnitz were beat out in the third round after winning six out of their first seven matches.

The tennis team will journey to Longview for the Eastman Kodak tournament today and tomorrow.

Tracksters capture second place

On a coin's toss, North Mesquite Boys Track team beat out Garland to place second in the Mesquite Relay, at Hanby Stadium, March 1.

Mesquite won first place with 82 points, while North Mesquite and Garland tied with 70 points each.

In the running events Kenny Roberts placed third, and Randy Pool ranked sixth for varsity in high hurdles, and JV Steve Pace placed fifth. In 330 Intermediate Hurdles Steve Cain came in fifth.

The 440 relay varsity team placed sixth, and the JV came in fourth.

In the 880 Run, a new record was set by JV Steve Elwonger with a 2:04.1 which gained him first place and Henry Demers fourth. In varsity division of the 880 Run Dwayne Murr placed fourth; Bob Reynolds fifth; John David placed sixth.

Varsity 100 Dash Jay Glover placed third, and Garry Fade fifth.

In the 220 Dash JV Steve Elwonger tied the record and received another first. Ken Teagle placed second.

Varsity Two Mile, Mike Do-Remus placed first with 10:01, Rob Ford third 10:08, and Lou Hulcy placed fourth. Jr. Varsity, Donnie Scott placed third.

Varsity Mile, Greg Lautenslager placed first in heat and overall.

Varsity mile relay Warren Lee, Lee Denton, Terry Fagala, and Richard Brown placed third, with a time of 3:31.2. JV mile relay Demers, Elwonger, Teagle, and Smith placed second.

Two relay teams from freshman meet at Hollie Relays at Sprague Stadium, South Oak Cliff, came in third and fourth.

Third place in Two Mile Relay were JV's Bud Harper, Dennis Kingrey, Joe Coyle, and Steve Peyton.

In the One Mile Relay, JV Bud Harper, Mark Brunet, Terry Green, and Steve Peyton placed fourth.

The Sports Scene

By MARTY McLENDON

As years pass it's obvious that the competition in schoolboy basketball increases tremendously. New and better players come up year after year. There are always the few teams like South Oak Cliff and Houston Wheatley that never seem to lose. What causes the success of these teams? Sure, other teams have winning seasons but not every single year. Most of the teams in the top 20 this year will not be in there two years from now.

Teams who win every year get their success largely from the size and speed of their players. Most of the players have played with each other since junior high. It's also the combined effort of the whole team.

Natural talent can also play a large part in the greatness of these teams. Without some natural talent all the practice in the world wouldn't make them great.

A lot of people claim that the population of the Houston area helps out in the winnings of their teams, but what about the Houston teams that never have a winning season? Call it luck if you wish but these teams have something called success.

Ralph was hung-up on Sue Ann, a cheerleader type. But Sue Ann was heavy on cheering and booking...hence...no time for Ralph.
